DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1,3-5,7,9,12-13 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ngoc-Xang TRAN (FR 1496857).

Ngoc-Xang Tran discloses a unitary dosing device (1 and 10) for a liquid as seen in Figure 1, which comprises a main chamber see Figure 1 for location, (note: the main chamber is the upper area within element 10), where the main chamber is sized to hold more than one dose of the liquid as seen in Figure 1 and it is inherent that the main chamber of Ngoc-Xang Tran is sized to hold more than one dose of the liquid in as much as the applicant's claimed invention, a dosing chamber 2 is sized to hold one dose of the liquid, in fluidic communication with the main chamber, an unbiased shuttle 5 is adapted for movement between a first position in which the liquid can flow between the main chamber and the dosing chamber, but not out of the device as seen in Figure 1, and a second position in which the shuttle is depressed and seals the dosing chamber from the main chamber, and permits the liquid to exit the device as seen in Figure 2.

The device shown by Ngoc-Xang Tran will perform the method recited in claim 15 during normal operational use of the device.

3. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Aperlo 3,738,543.

Aperlo discloses in a dosing device 11 having a dosing chamber 22, a removable volumetric spacer 56 that, when placed in the dosing chamber, reduces the volume available for a liquid within that dosing chamber (col. 6, ll. 24-32).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 6 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ngoc-Xang TRAN (FR 1496857) in view of Aperlo 3,738,543.

Ngoc-Xang TRAN (FR 1496857) has all the features of the claimed invention except that the device includes a volumetric spacer within the dosing chamber. Aperlo teaches the use of a volumetric device 56 within a dosing chamber 11.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide Aperlo's volumetric spacer within the dosing chamber of Ngoc-Xang TRAN as such, in order to allow the dispensing of a lesser, preselected amount of liquid, as taught by Aperlo (col. 6, ll. 29-32).

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claim 2 is allowed.

7. Claims 8,10-11 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed 10/30/2003 have been fully considered but are moot in view of the new ground of rejection. However, applicants argue that the reference of Ngoc-Xang Tran does not disclose "an unbiased shuttle". Applicants should note that the shuttle of Ngoc-Xang Tran is one piece. Therefore, One having ordinary skill in the art cannot say that the shuttle is biased. Note: an element cannot biased itself".

Applicants argue that the reference of Ngoc-Xang Tran does not disclose, "the activation location for the shuttle is disposed at an opposite end of the device from a dispensation location where the liquid exits the device". As seen in Figure 2 and as explained above by the applicants on page 3, lines 10-13 of their response to the Office Action, "the bartender lifts the bottle to activate the shuttle", which clearly located on the opposite end of the dispensing opening (4).
